HUMAN SERVICES AT BHSU

STUDENT-CENTERED: BHSU Human Services faculty are focused on your success. Our low faculty-to- student-ratio ensures a personalized learning experience. Human services faculty care about your unique goals and work to help you build an educational experience to achieve them.

CAREER- FOCUSED: BHSU Human Service is invested in your professional future. Graduates find job- placement in rewarding and in-demand careers, including: case management, law enforcement, government, child welfare services, nonprofit administration, and a variety of related professional opportunities. Graduates are well-prepared to enter master's and doctoral programs in social work, counseling, public health, and more.

PRACTICE-ORIENTED: BHSU Human Services majors enjoy hands-on learning experiences through practice-oriented coursework, project-based learning, internships, and interactions with professionals and leaders throughout the field. Close relationships between faculty and human services organizations provide students with valuable industry insights and professional networking opportunities.
